Invitation to teachers of international programmes at Aarhus BSS

Workshop
Tools for Teaching in an Educationally Mobile World

8 December 2015, 9:00-12:00

CTL invites you to a workshop on teaching on international programmes. The workshop is targeted at teachers of international (English-medium) programmes and will address some of the issues that easily emerge when students in the same class have very diverse backgrounds.

In the workshop we will explore teaching and learning activities that encourage all students to work together and to gain learning benefits from the diversity within an international classroom.

After the registration deadline, participants will receive a short text to read before the workshop.

The workshop will be run by Jude Carroll.

About Jude Carroll:
Jude Carroll has been an educational developer at Oxford Brookes University in the UK (1990-2011) and helped establish the Oxford Centre for Staff and Learning Development. In addition, she has taught and run workshops in a number of universities across the world.

In her most recent book, Tools for Teaching in an Educationally Mobile World (Routledge 2015), Jude examines the challenges that teachers often encounter when working with students from different national and cultural backgrounds.

It focuses on the consequences for interactive teaching and for course design in a world where students, ideas and courses are mobile, using examples and experiences from a wide range of disciplines and national contexts.

We are looking forward to an inspiring workshop and hope to see you there.

Karen M. Lauridsen, CTL.
